

BEMA

BEMA

Xavier D. Jones

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED
IN WHOLE OR PART IN ANY FORM
COPYRIGHT © 2015 BY XAVIER JONES
RISD, JUNIOR (TYPE III)
PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND

MANUFACTURED IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Credits and acknowledgments borrowed from other sources, for educational purposes.

This book was design by
XAVIER D. JONES
www.xavierdevaughn.com

Photo Research / Page designer:
XAVIER D. JONES

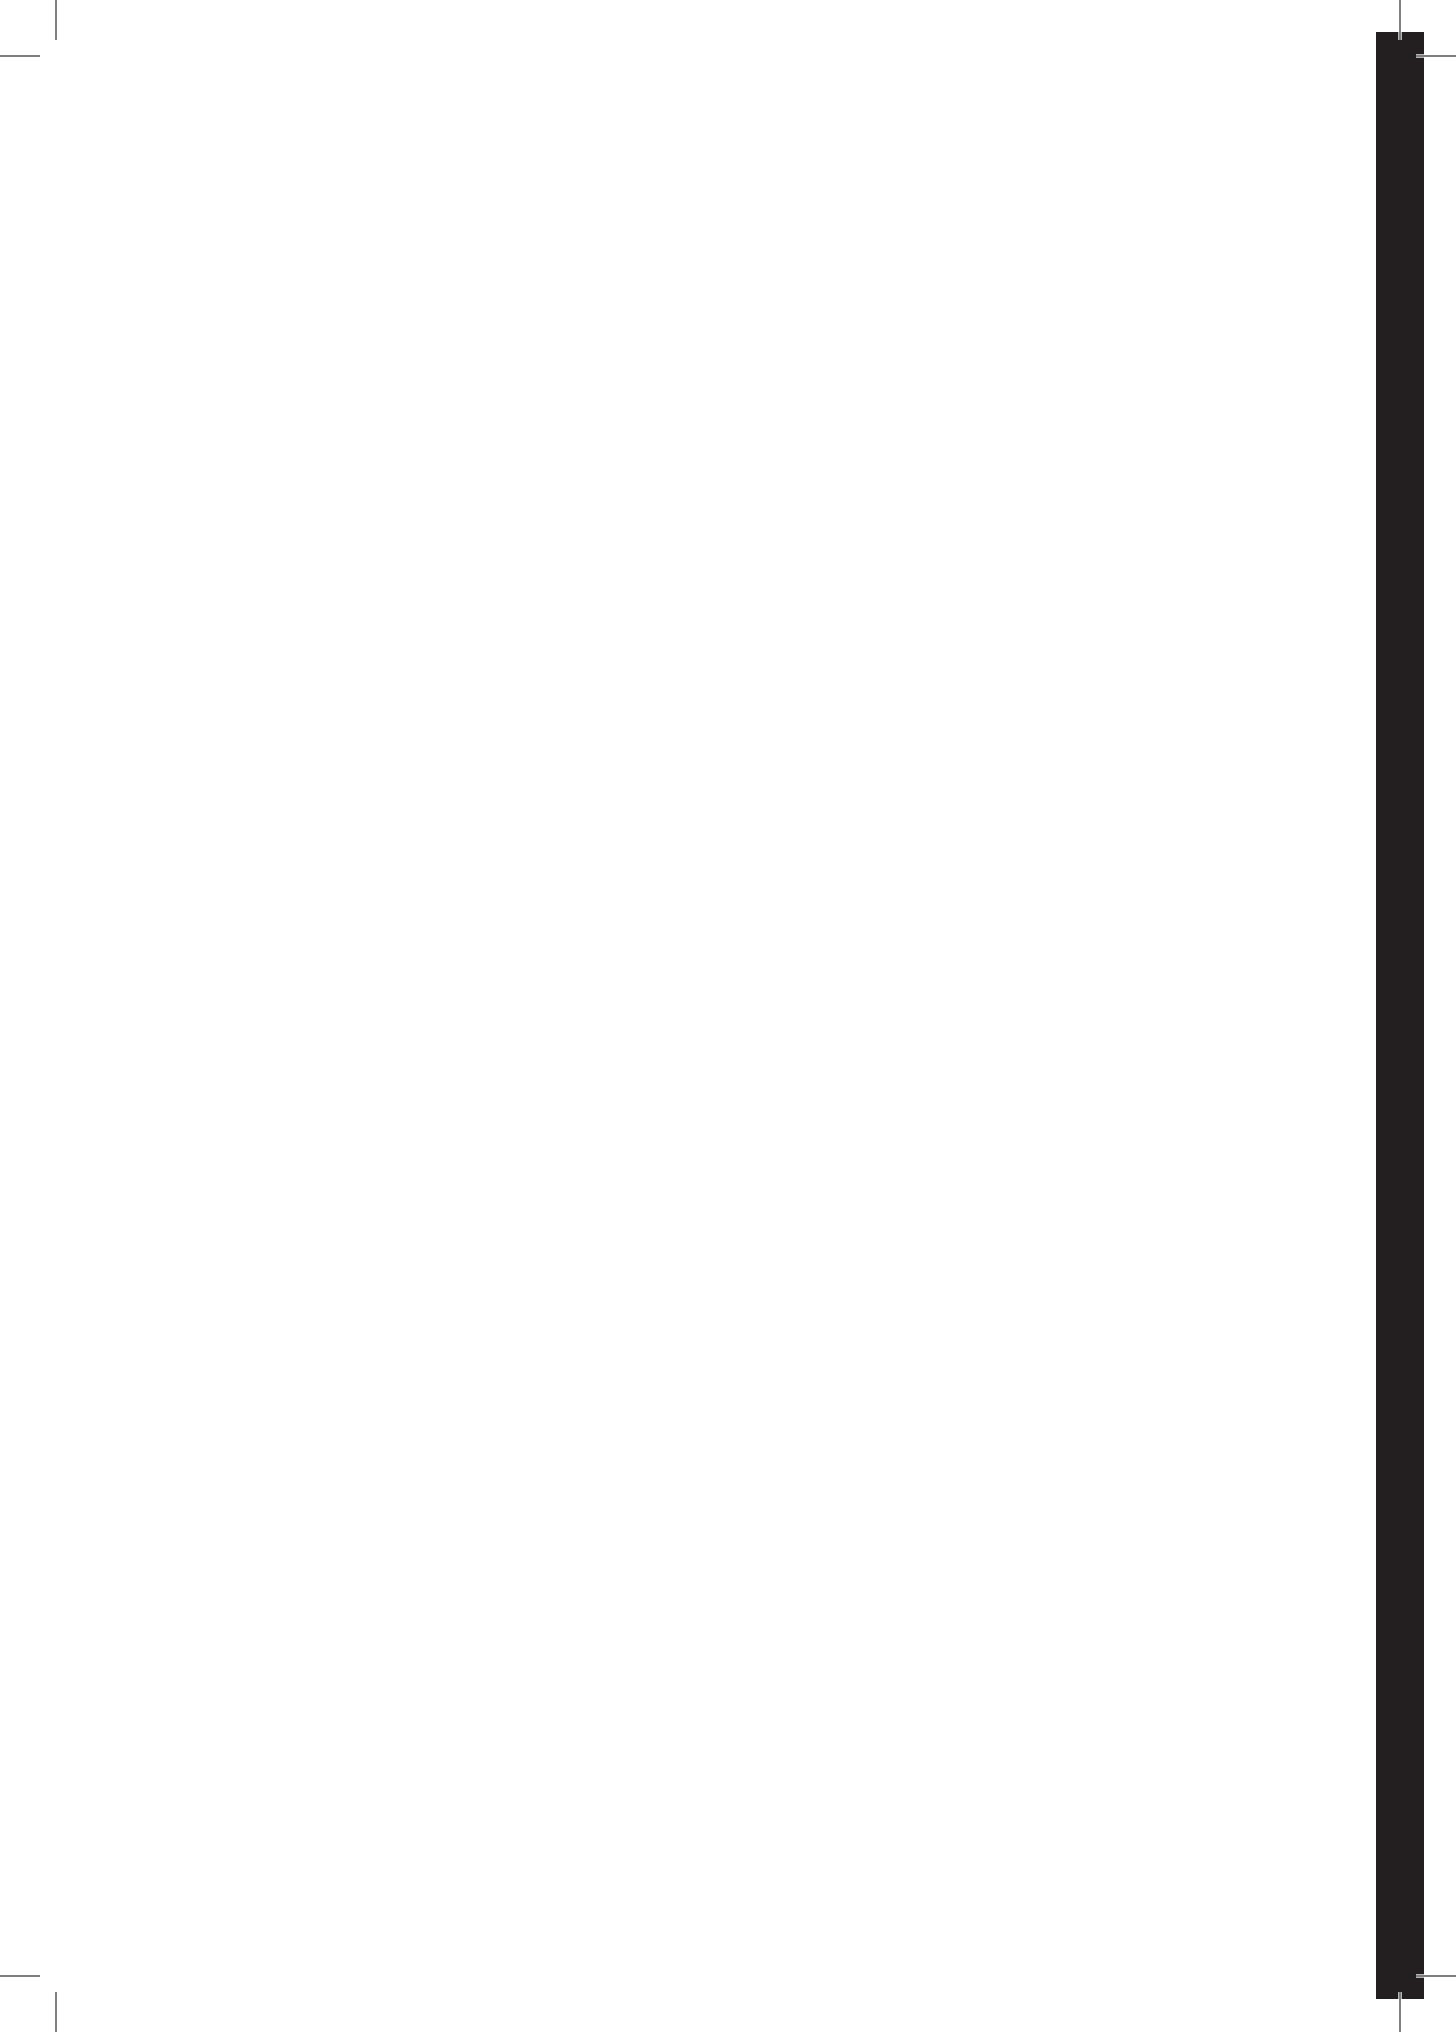

Photographs: Julie Krebs, Jordi Flores,
Reuven Halevi

Text: "Racial Identity Development and Psychological Coping Strategies of Undergraduate and Graduate African American Males" - Eric M. Bridges (Clayton State University)

Typefaces: News Gothic, NewParis
Headline

ABOUT THIS BOOK

This catalogue has two distinct messages. The text on the white pages talks about African American men face many socio-cultural, academic, and negative stressors that generate stress experiences and identity conflicts. Given data that was found and the experiences of African American men faced. The text came from Eric M. Bridges. A associate professor of psychology at Clayton State University in Morrow, Georgia. He teaches social psychology, psychology of adjustment, and the psychology of the African American experience. His areas of interest are the psychology of social justice, liberation psychology, and spiritual psychology. I used Julie Krebs, Jordi Flores, and Reuven Halevi (amature and professional photog- raphers) photographs they've taken in urban environments and fused them with my personal text to create a abstract narrative about time, death, culture and new beginnings of mankind.

BEMA

